

Crafted prayer for Prayerwalking

Lord God, as I start out today to pray for this area, I ask that you would

- reveal Your heart to me
- show me how You see these people and these places
- Remind me of the Scriptures I have read that speak about Your desire for all people to experience Your Kingdom
- Remind me that nothing is impossible with You
- Remind me that I can only abide in Your love if I am obeying Your commands – but also that if I obey Your commands, I will experience Your love!
- Overwhelm me with Your love, Lord, so that any fear from the enemy is pushed out. I choose to trust You right now.

Lord, please remove all distractions to hearing your voice. Soften my heart and show me if there is anything of which I need to repent. Help me to see how I can move with you today.

Lord God, I know You are already at work here, already speaking to men, women and children through dreams and visions and Your still small voice. Father, would You:

- guide me to those open people today?
- open my eyes to see where you are working, and what you are doing? I want to walk in your footsteps today.
- lead me to hurting people that You want to love?
- lead me to a person of peace today - someone who is already hungry, already open, already ready to hear your good news and believe.
- simplify the process by going before me and making a way like only you can.

Father, in Jesus' name I bless these homes, these businesses. Would you:

- bless those who live and work there – especially those who are far away from You.
- meet their needs, financial or spiritual
- soften their hearts to Your Truth
- break demonic oppression over their lives
- open their blinded eyes so they can see how much they need You
- show them how much You love them
- make me willing to be an instrument of Your love for them

God, please give me a heart for the places you take me today. Help me to feel what you feel for these people, to see them how you see them, to love them like you love them. God only you can do that in my hard heart - change me and let my heart beat for the same things for which your heart beats.
